

Privacy Policy

Project Posture and its developer take your privacy very seriously.

Beyond the information Apple provides to developers, we use no third-party analytics or advertising frameworks. Project Posture logs no information on you and has no interest in doing so. All data is stored locally on your phone and cannot be accessed remotely by anyone at Project Posture. When you delete a progress picture on your phone, it's gone. There is no other copy or secret storage. We firmly believe that your data is yours and no one should be able access it or tamper with it.

Project Posture does not collect, transmit, distribute or sell your data.